Concept Website

Experimental Flash website powered by XML. The benefit of XML allows the site owner to update the site content without knowing Adobe Flash. An editable XML text file contains all content on the website.

CelineMoreton.com

Simple brochure website for Celine Moreton a Wicklow based beauty therapist.

IrishEquity.ie (SIPTU)

I've recently launched a new web site for Irish Equity a branch of SIPTU that represent Actors, Dancers, Street Performers, Theatre Directors, Stage and Set Designers in Ireland.

The finished website contains breaking news via RSS feeds, members area, forum, personal blogs.....

First in Print

I'm currently designing print material and logo for Manchester based book seller First-in-Print.

First-in-Print specialise in rare first edition books.

For csai.ie I was asked to create a website which would last for some time but would also not require any changes to the "look and feel" of the website. CSAI.IE wanted to update the website, create news items, member profiles and have a online polling system.

Based on this I created a classic designed website driven with a powerful back-end Content Management System but also allowed CSAI to login and update all parts of their website.

registered members to login and update their photo's and contact details.

Active Promotional Products

This Website provided tangible results for generating sales enquires. With over 1,000 different products to choose from.

The Log House Company

This site provides a engaging & informative experience. I designed this website hoping to emphases the company's eco friendly culture. Developed using Flash and php the website was awarded the Eircom.net website of the day.

Phonecover.ie

I designed a bespoke Content Management System for phonecover.ie allowing the client to create, delete and update new phones on their site using a very easy interface.

Constructiontenders.ie

A powerful B2B Website using SQL Server & ASP Programming.

Logo design for O'Neill & Associates

I was asked to come up with a logo that emphasises O'Neill & Associates focus on training in the telesales sector.

Logo design for The Log House Company

Designed for www.theloghousecompany.ie in the initial stages of the brand development.

Johnreynolds.ie

John Reynolds an Irish journalist for publications including the Sunday Independent and The Big Issue asked me to create a site that was both easy to update and professional.

Barker.ie

Working in partnership with trao.ie we are currently redesigning Barker Financial Advisers website with a cleaner, more user friendly experience which better communicates Barker's full range of services. For my part I designed a Content Management System (CMS) which allowed Barker to easily update pages on the site whenever they need to, using a simple word editor. They now have full control over the site including both navigation and content.

TriftyBits.com

I designed this Wordpress Blog for a mysterious yet prolific writer whose real identity is one of the Internets biggest secretes ;-)

Needless to say the client was very happy with the finished site.

BPI Telecom Ireland

BPI asked for a way of easily updating their existing site without having to train staff into a new system. My solution was a CMS which was closely matched Microsoft word. This allowed them to quickly update their site without the worry of complexity or confusion.

SEO for the Log House Company

Working closely with the client I was able to increase the online profile of www.theloghousecompany.ie.

This resulted in a 87% increases in site traffic & a 100% happy client.
